ANNEX II

eFTI COMMON DATA SET AND eFTI DATA SUBSETS

Section 1

Introductory notes

This Annex describes the eFTI data subsets and the eFTI common data set, established pursuant to Article 7 of Regulation (EU) 2020/1056.

As per the definitions provided in points (5), (6) and (7) of Article 3 of Regulation (EU) 2020/1056, the eFTI common data set and eFTI data subsets are not just lists of data elements, but “set[s] of structured of data elements”, where all the data elements corresponding to all of the subsets constitute the common data set, with the data elements common to two or more subsets included only once. Those definitions also indicate that for each data element, specific properties such as definition and technical characteristics, including format, length and character type should be provided, and that what distinguishes a data element from all the others in the common data set is their “unique definition”. By implication, data elements that share one or more such properties, but not the definition, are not the same element; therefore, they are listed in the common data set and respective subsets as distinct data elements.

The eFTI common data set is described in Section 2, Table 1, where:

- Column with heading “Object” indicates:
 - data classes, when the reference provided is “ASBIE”. Data classes are groupings of data elements describing a certain piece of information.
 - data elements, when the reference provided is “BBIE” or “SC”. Data elements marked as “SC” are always related to a “BBIE” data element, as they constitute supplementary units of information necessary to fully specify the information provided by the BBIE data element¹.
- Column with heading “ID” indicates the data element identification number in format ‘eFTIxxxx’, which uniquely identifies the data element in the eFTI common data set. The identification number is automatically assigned and indicates neither sequence nor hierarchy of the data element in the eFTI common data set.
- Column with heading “L” indicates, when provided, the data elements that will be accompanied by a language indicator providing information on the language of the content of the data field.
- Column with heading “Business Name, Definition and Business Rules” indicates, in separate rows:

Object Type	ID	L*	Business Name and Definition	Data Type	Format	Code restrictions	Code List
